(I) IRR under current differentiated supervision regime

The feed-back from the regulator concerning the results of the IRR (differentiated supervision) indicated an AAA and AA rating of the Company for Q4 of 2022 and Q1 of 2023 respectively.

The Company continued to enhance the testing and evaluation system for differentiated supervision, keeping tabs on risk metrics and seeking to improve the timeliness and accuracy of such monitoring; issued risk early warning in a timely manner via the monitoring and analysis of changes to metrics on a regular basis; in the meantime, stepped up risk topical research and mitigation programmes, such as conducting in-depth study of cause and trends of risks, identifying patterns and coming up with mitigation recommendations, with follow-up remedial actions. To date, the Company has issued several management policies on IRR, followed by amendments and revision according to regulatory requirements, implemented quarterly data filing and internal rating of branches and put in place long-term mechanisms for the work. At the same time, a dedicated IRR management system is in use, covering data filing, data analysis, rectification and reporting.

Going forward, it will strengthen control of business operation risks, focusing on root-causes and the front-line business, and use IRR to motivate branch offices in compliance and basic management.

(II) Self-assessment of unquantifiable risks

As per requirements for IRR under C-ROSS II, the Company continued to strengthen its in-house testing and evaluation system for differentiated supervision, continuously reviewed risk metrics to improve the timeliness and accuracy of the monitoring; issued risk early warning in a timely manner via the monitoring and analysis of changes to metrics on a regular basis

1. Methods, processes and results of self-assessment

As part of its work in quarterly IRR, the Company organises, on a quarterly basis, a self-review of operational risk, strategic risk, reputational risk and liquidity risk involving relevant departments to evaluate its risk status in an objective way. Departments involved would monitor various indicators according to assignment of responsibilities, and in the event of detection of abnormalities, would follow up and identify their causes, so as to track the development of risks and roll out remedial actions in a timely manner; and in the absence of such remedial actions, they would formulate rectification plans with deadlines. The actual status as of the end of each quarter would be submitted by departments within their scope of responsibilities to the lead department, which, in turn, would compile the data, report them to company management and file with the regulator. The latest self-assessment indicated that unquantifiable risks were under control, and no triggers of material risk incidents were detected.

2. Status of unquantifiable risks

In operational risk, the Company issued Provisions on Operational Risk Management (CPIC Life [2022] No.170), Provisions on Data Loss Recovery of Operational Risk (CPIC Life [2022] No.234), Measures on Operational Risk and Internal Control(2022) (CPIC Life [2022] No.274), in a bid to clearly define the responsibility of operational risk management, and establish more scientific and regular risk mitigation mechanisms. Based on analysis of IRR indicators and the monitoring of operational risk metrics, the operational risk was manageable overall, including in insurance business, fund utilisation, corporate governance, IT systems, legal cases management, etc.

In reputational risk, the Company gives priority risk screening including regular screening, routine screening and ad hoc screening so as to enhance at-source management of adverse publicity. It set up a risk handling working group at headquarters, with dedicated/part-time positions on reputational risk management at both headquarters and branch offices in a bid to step up coordination. Training and drills have become an important part of daily risk management, which consist of specialised programmes in handling of publicity crisis and media interviews leveraging the expertise of in-house and third-party experts, and support for branch offices via special-purpose training, and the formulation, dissemination of handbooks. In Q2 2023, the Company monitored and detected 98 reports (original) of adverse publicity on the media, higher than in Q2 2022. Of this, there were 22 Level III reports, accounting for 22.4%, 76 Level IV reports, representing 77.6%, and there were no Level I or II major incidents, indicating manageable reputational risk. Self-media and social media tend to be the high-risk area. In terms of content, the share of mis-selling and claims disputes, as well as regulatory notices on administrative penalty was relatively high.

As for strategic risk, the implementation of strategies of the Company is in a healthy status. In terms of factors which may impact its business operation and fulfillment of strategic objectives, China's economic development got off to a good start in the first half of the year, with gradual recovery of market demand. However, the insurance industry is still in a critical stage of transformation, facing pressures in sustained development. The Company upheld high-quality development, optimised top-level design of the Changhang Transformation which seeks to build "headquarters for empowerment and branch offices for business operation", deepened the Changhang Transformation to establish a model of sustainable development with "win-win" for all stakeholders, including customers, employees, shareholders, and the society, and strived for industry leadership in healthy and steady development. Next, the Company will further consolidate the progress of the transformation, shifting the focus from “building the new model” to “securing the new model”, and at the same time roll out in an all-around way “headquarters for empowerment and branch offices for business operation”, starting with organisational restructuring, in a bid to build an organisation which can support productivity improvement.

With respect to liquidity risk, the Company established a cash flow management system for investment accounts covering assets and liabilities, front-line departments and back-office departments. To be concrete, the system includes the projection, review, analysis and transfer of cash flows from investment accounts. It conducts account-specific cash flow projections at year-end, month-end and in the event of material adjustment of business plans, with analysis of discrepancies between actual cash flows and projections. It also set tolerances depending on size of accounts and profiles of liabilities. In the event of breaches of such tolerances, a detailed explanation for material cash flow discrepancies is required. Meanwhile, the Company conducts on a regular basis liquidity emergency drills to ensure effective response in cases of occurrence of risk incidents; put in place mechanisms for early warning, with the focus shifting from crisis handling to early warning and prevention, which can enhance overall liquidity risk management. LCRs under all scenarios were solid. Relevant indicators show that the liquidity management of the Company was sound and effective, with the liquidity risk overall under control.
